

LODGE ASSAILS WILSON IN OPENING

Republican Convention Formally Convenes With All Still At Sea As To Nominee

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, June 8.—Hours before the doors opened at the Coliseum today, thousands of persons were in waiting to get in for a look at an unbossed republican national convention. The campaign managers are still up in the air as to who will win the nomination and from all sides there is a volley of inquiries as to when the job might be finished especially in view of blistering hot day.

The convention was actually called to order at 11:34. Soon after Chairman Hays appeared on the platform and was greeted by rousing applause and shouts. Hays brought down his gavel with a whack and the convention quietly came to order. Bishop Woodcock, of Louisville, offered the opening prayer. The audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." An official photograph of the gathering was taken and the call for the convention read.

At the conclusion of these formalities, Chairman Hays stepped to the edge of the platform. He was greeted by shouts and cheers and delivered a short address, saying there "will be no bolt at this convention," and he introduced Senator Lodge as temporary chairman.

Senator Lodge was escorted to the chair by Chauncey Depew, of New York, Myron Herrick, of Ohio, and Mrs. J. B. Hume, of California. Another wave of cheers greeted Lodge as he stepped to the platform. At one minute after noon he began the delivery of his address.

Lodge Assails Wilson
The country must drive President Wilson and his "dynasty" from power and defeat the League of Nations as he desires it, declared Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, temporary chairman of the convention in his keynote address. Defending the Senate's opposition to the treaty of peace as a high and patriotic duty, the Senator flung down his gauntlet: "We make the issue; we ask approval for what we have done. The people will not tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's League and the sacrifice of America."

While emphasizing the point that around the League must be waged the 1920 presidential campaign, and devoting much of his speech and arraignment of Wilson administration, the Senator found time to lay before the delegates the stand of the republican party on other salient problems facing the nation.

Chief among these was Mexico. Declaring it was time for the United States to take a firm hand in things Mexican and end the "disgraceful record" of the last seven years, Senator Lodge urged that this country let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then lend him a real and cordial support.

"Mexico lies at our doors," he declared. "It is a primary duty for us to deal with it under the Monroe doctrine, but nothing has been done and yet we are asked to take a mandate for Armenia." The applause grew to a tumult as he referred to the republican party of 1860 and declared it must again come forward for a like service to the country.

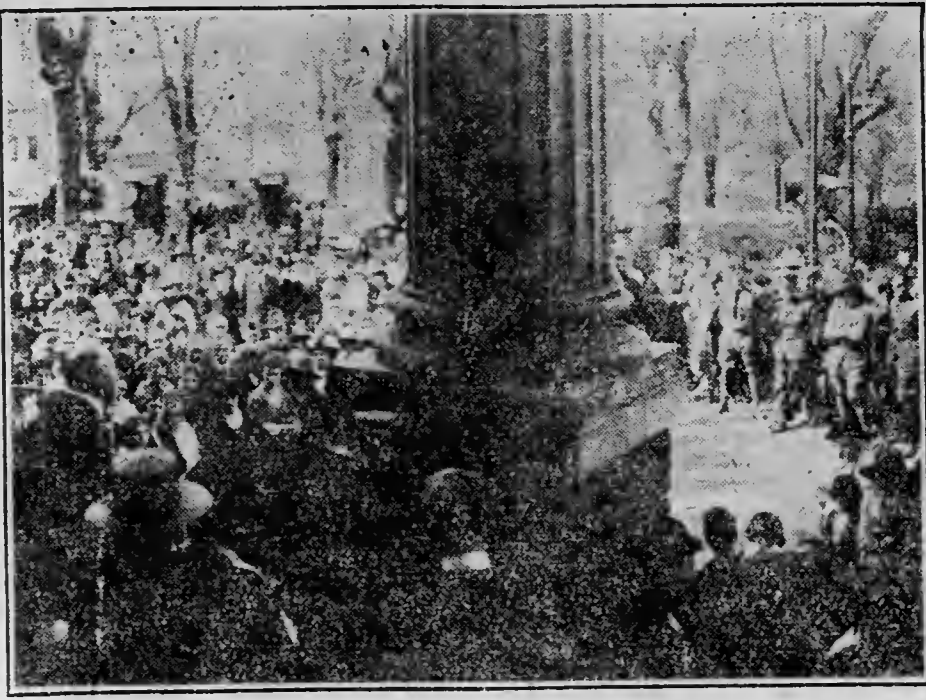

Another demonstration occurred when he said:

"The dynasty of Woodrow Wilson must be driven from power, not because they are democratic, but because Wilson's theory of government is not American." "The defeat of the present administration," said Lodge, "transcends every other question. The ground thus cleared, it becomes our duty as Americans to reiterate the several fundamental principles which have been both shocked and invaded."

William Jennings Bryan, from a seat in the press stand, listened intently to Lodge's hot denunciation of Wilson and his associates, who, he declared, had "attempted to drag us from the path of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt."

Bryan stroked his chin but main-lained his poker face throughout. There was another wave of applause when Lodge referred to Wilson as a "democratic free trader with socialistic proclivities."

Among the National Committee men elected by the state delegations was A. T. Hert, of Kentucky. The general understanding is an agreement will be made to accept the temporary organization and chairman as permanent, thus continuing the gavel in the hands of Lodge.

Hert Leads Kentuckians

Chicago, June 8.—Nearly all the Kentucky delegation were present in Gov. Morrow's room for the caucus of the state delegation.

Gov. Morrow, in a brief address stated that so far as it had been made known to him, there was no discordant note in the Kentucky organization; that the members of the party in that state were united this year more closely than they ever had been; that this fact was reflected fully here, and that while he was unable to say what was in the minds of the absent delegates, he had heard nothing to indicate that they or any of the others, though uninstructed, would be adverse to whatever program might be worked out by the majority of the delegation as being best for party interests.

He stated that Alvin T. Hert, of Louisville, National Committee man, was the big man of the Kentucky delegation and in reality the big man of this convention. Gov. Morrow told the Kentuckians that Col. Hert "is thoroughly in touch with the situation and constantly is being consulted by other leaders who are shaping the work and ultimately the result of the convention."

The Governor, therefore, believed that the Kentucky delegation with entire safety and security, could and should entrust its votes to the direction and disposal of the National Committee man. The Governor suggested that when the delegation met for organization Col. Hert should be named chairman of the delegation and likewise should be proposed for re-election to the National Committee. This program was carried through without a hitch.

Southern Negro Delegates Offered To Best Bidder

Chicago, June 7.—Typical of the spirit of a part of the membership of the convention and of the lust for money is the spectacle witnessed several times today. To various headquarters came first a representative, later a score, of negro delegates from the southern states, offering to sell themselves to anybody who had the price.

Untouched by the wave of indignation at commercialism in politics the blacks asked for money shamelessly. Their first call evidently were made upon the headquarters of the three leading candidates, Lowden, Wood and Johnson. In these they found no bargain offerers, and their next calls were upon what is known as the second line candidates, reaching practically all headquarters during the day and early evening.

They waited for this visit until the official delegates badges and credentials were issued so that they might establish their identity. The mode of operation was the sending of an advance emissary to a manager at a headquarters. At one of these places where doubt was expressed as to the authorization, the emissary promptly offered to furnish his associates in the business.

When interest was expressed in them, request was made for a Louisville, June 8.—A paragraph in a Chicago newspaper today that Gov. Morrow, of Kentucky, may make one of the seconding speeches nominating Gov. Lowden at the Chicago convention moved Harry Bloom, special correspondent of the Louisville Post to quote the paper as saying that "may believe that the 1896 democratic convention is likely to be repeated here. Some man may make a speech like that of Bryan that will start a stampede. Morrow may make that speech."

GEORGIA G. O. P. GIVES HONOR TO NEGRO

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—Henry Lincoln Johnson, an Atlanta negro, who led the fight for Lowden delegates before the Republican National Committee, today was elected National Committeeman from Georgia by the state delegation. The Wood delegates headed by Roscoe Pickett, defeated candidate for National Committeeman announced they would carry their fight to the convention credentials committee.

short delay. Then the hall was lined up with a dusky row of figures, all properly "badged and credentialed."

Having satisfied himself with the showing, the man in charge ordered them to leave, first delivering a lecture on the duty of delegates. After he said: "I have paid negroes at the polls to vote, but in a place where a President is to be named, this is sickening."

Hiram Johnson's Rally

Chicago, June 8.—At a convention eve popular rally last night Senator Hiram W. Johnson declared the republican party must "hide or skulk" on the treaty issue and must see that it goes before this country this year with "clean hands."

Speaking to a capacity audience in the big auditorium when the 1916 Progressive National Convention was held, the California candidate kept his hearers cheering repeatedly as he rapped the "servile press" and the republican leaders who, he said, "wanted to make the party a party for the few."

Some of these men, he declared, "are in the saddle all over the country, and today are in evidence in the city of Chicago."

His demand for repeal of war laws was cheered loudly. Another whoop went up when he said the "big profiteer" had escaped punishment through the lack of administration effort in executing the law.

LIQUOR QUESTION BIG ISSUE IN RACE

Democratic Candidates For Congress Tell How They View The Question Now

Whether or not the two conventions of the great parties inject the liquor issue into the presidential race this fall, it has been dropped into the race for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 8th district with a dull thud, and is apt to be a very vital question before the voters of this particular district from now on until the final election is over.

The principal question seems to be whether or not the Volstead law which is the prohibition enforcement act, is to be modified, so that wine and beer may be made and sold. The three candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress occupied a large part of their time in discussing this question at their speaking appointment here Monday afternoon. And it is a certainty that Congressman King Swope, when he runs for reelection as the Republican nominee, is going to have to state his position on this question, whether or not the Republican national platform mentions it.

As a result of the Democratic Congressional primary to be held in August it will be fairly well determined as to whether the Democratic voters of the 11 counties of this district wish the stringent dry laws now on the statute books modified or not. The three candidates who are seeking the Democratic nomination have assumed entirely different attitudes toward the question and the voters will have little trouble it seems to pick a man who represents their various viewpoints of the prohibition issue.

Judge Ralph Gilbert of Shelby county, is frankly and openly dry, with a big D, and opposed to modification of the prohibition laws in any way. He declares that he is against the manufacture or sale of wine and beer and other intoxicating drinks. He asserts that if the Volstead law is modified that beer and wine may be sold over every soda fountain, soft drink stand and every crossroads store in the country, and, therefore, he is against any change in the laws. He says the fight against the liquor "snake" has been a long and hard one, and while the good people of the country have their heels on its head and it is dying, it is dying hard and still wriggling, and if there is any modification of the prohibition laws, the old "serpent," as he calls it, will come to life again. Gilbert frankly says that a man who wants the prohibition law weakened, shouldn't vote for him with the expectation that he will vote to weaken them.

Hon. George T. Davis, of Casey county, on the other hand, says he favors modification of the stringent dry laws. He declared that he believes the housewife should be allowed to make wine and the farmer cider, if he wish. (Incidentally, it was brought out that the government has ruled that this can be done under the present law.) Anyway, Judge Gilbert stated in his speech that at the places Davis had declared that he is for wine and beer, and Wet. Davis frankly told what he will do about the matter of modifying the Volstead law and declared that he was against an law which was oppressive and against the wishes of the people, as it has been shown, he said, that this law is.

Col. Rippe did not state his views of the liquor question from the platform at the speaking, but declared that the prohibition question is dead and no an issue in this campaign. He said that he wanted to keep himself in position to stand on the platform of the Democratic national convention adopts at San Francisco and that he does not believe any man is bigger than his party. He pointed out that if the Democratic platform took one side or the other on the liquor question, that either Judge Gilbert or Davis would be put in an embarrassing position. In reply to this Judge Gilbert said that if the Democratic platform declared for modification of the prohibition laws, he would resign as a candidate, so as not to have to vote against his convictions although he pledged his hearty support to the party and the ticket. Judge Gilbert further said that while no one was able to get Rippe to say in his speech where he stands on the liquor question, that he, Gilbert, knows where he stands, and that he is Wet, and he charged that Rippe told a prominent Richmond business man in presence of Tandy Chenault, that he is Wet. This man is understood to be Mr. T. J. Moberly, who has asked all candidates their position on the liquor question.

The debating by the three candidates was good natured at all times, though often quite pointed references to one or the other's records and views were indulged in. Private Davis spoke first, and paid a beautiful tribute to the private soldiers, who went forth to fight for their country, and the thousands who gave their lives on the fields of France and Flanders. He told of his service as private and how he had been unable to save enough out of his pay of $33 a month to even pay for announcements of his candidacy in the newspapers. Davis charged that his opponents are entirely too friendly with the two United States Senators from Kentucky, and engaged in perpetuating their political machines. He said that Col. Rippe represents Stanleyism and Gilbert is a protégé of Beckham. He said that it is time to get away from factions in Kentucky and urged the voters to scrap the political machines by nominating a man who is aligned with none of them. He took several humorous flights at Col. Rippe and his army service, and told his hearers that if they wanted to nominate a soldier to make the race against Capt. King Swope to nominate a private, and not a colonel.

Overall Club Normal School. "They've Worn Them Before"

Col. Rippe spoke second, and made a fine plea for harmony in the Democratic ranks. He gave Davis a good "call" for his references to Senators Stanley and Beckham, declaring that Beckham is the Democratic nominee for United States Senator without opposition and that it becomes any Democratic candidate to talk about another the way Davis did of these two distinguished statesmen and Kentuckians. Rippe said that the party is united and that no cause for discord should be injected. He declared that he intends to conduct his race so that he can support the ticket nominated at San Francisco, and further so that he can go out for either of his two opponents should they happen to defeat him. He deprecated injection of the liquor question into the campaign, and said that as far as he was concerned, he is a democrat and the platform that the democratic convention writes at San Francisco will suit him exactly, and he will stand upon it. He spoke of the soldiers and their work, and made slighting reference to the fact that Judge Gilbert had no one to blame but himself for the fact that he was not in the war.

In reply to this, when he followed Col. Rippe, Judge Gilbert said that neither of his opponents was married early in life, and the war caught him with a wife and children to support; that he had no money at the time but had mortgaged his farm and bought $4,000 worth of liberty bonds, and contributed to everything for the benefit of the soldiers and made speeches all over the state for the various causes. He said that if he was a "slacker" as Rippe had called him at Nicholasville that Rippe's statement apply as well to every man who had not gone into the army.

Gilbert was the only one of the three candidates who touched on the problems that the farmer has confronting him today or told what he would try to do to help these conditions. He said that although he is a lawyer, he has been operating a small farm for a number of years, raising corn and tobacco and he knows what the farmers are up against. He said that unless the tobacco growers get the high colony type of weed next year, there is little chance for his crop to bring him adequate returns, and he pledged himself to do all in his power to remedy the intolerable conditions that the farmers have to face.

Friends of each of the candidates seemed to be well pleased with their appearance here. This is the first political debate that has been held in old Madison for many a day and much interest was manifested in the appearance of the three candidates here. All had friends boosting and applauding for them.

The issues of the race were greatly clarified by this debate and from now on to the primary, interest is going to increase.

The last rehearsal of "All of a Sudden Peggy" was held in the auditorium at the Normal school this morning. Miss Ella M. Hanawalt and Dr. W. J. Grinstead, who are directing the commencement play, announce that it is ready to be staged.

There will be no admission fee tonight. The play is being staged absolutely free. It will afford nearly two hours of entertainment, and as each student taking part in the performance has been trained in the expression department, the play bids fair to be the best ever given at the local school. The management announces that the seating capacity is limited to 600, and that those who expect to attend should be in their seats before 8 o'clock. The doors will be closed at that hour.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR BERE A TODAY

W. J. Hutchins, president-elect of Berea College, is to be inducted into office Tuesday by retiring President Frost, which will mark the last of the official work upon the part of that worthy official, whose reign over the institution has extended over a period of many years, and who, it is understood, will retire.

There are a number of former students of the college, graduates who have been absent from the state for years, present at the close of the term this year, all the more interesting owing to the large number of graduates, as well as the retirement of President Frost. Richmond is well represented.

CLASS NIGHT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Interesting Program Including Play Well Presented—Appreciated By Big Crowd

Monday night at the Caldwell school the class night exercises were held, the evening closing with the rendition of the comedy, "Striking Oil," proving one of much enjoyment. The seating capacity was taxed to its utmost. The students participating in the exercises of the evening acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner.

The program was opened by singing the class song, by the class, after which President Robert Vandever delivered his farewell address. This was followed by the recital of the class poem by Walter Parks, proving an interesting feature. The class will, by Walker McKinney, proved an interesting and enjoyable number also. Robert Sandlin, class historian, exercised some of his wit in "delivering the goods," as to speak, there being many and varied presents. Miss Sallie Gentry, class impersonator, officiated in a clever manner, and James Howe, in class poetry, was also interesting.

The names in which the theatrical was presented was surprising to many who did not realize the high standard to which the performers had climbed. All characters were interpreted without the hitch and subtle touch of the "emcee," which is oftentimes manifest in the presentation of plays. Real work in the way of preparation was in evidence, for without this the cleverness of the average participant would have been below the high standard shown, for there were no amateurs. The innumerable susceptibilities to embarrassing instants in such presentations were conspicuous by their absence. From start to finish, the various parts were well presented, and in a manner indicating not only talent, but good training and preparatory work.

The commencement exercises will occur Wednesday night.

Public utilities companies are having hard sledding these days. In circuit court at Harrodsburg the other day Judge Hardin handed down a decision annulling the electric light franchise of Bastin Brothers, of Lancaster. The franchise was granted to Bastin Brothers in 1916 to become effective in July, 1917. Under the constitution of Kentucky a franchise must become effective the day it is sold.
Bastin Brothers have asked for a fifty per cent increase in lighting rates on account of the increased costs of production, and at Stanford the water and light plant is about to shut down because its revenues under pre-war rates won't meet rapidly increasing expenses. Richmond took cognizance of just such a situation here a couple of years ago and gave the Kentucky Utilities Company a reasonable increase, and that powerful organization probably never had to meet such serious conditions as confronts the little independent companies at Stanford and Lancaster.

"SINNERS" IS BETTER IN PHOTOPLAY THAN REAL LIFE

"Sinners," the photoplay, is a better and bigger and more gripping production than "Sinners," the stage play.

This is Alice Brady's opinion of the great Realart photoplay at the local theaters Friday. And she ought to know, for she starred in the stage play as well as the film-drama.

"And I know, too," she continued,
"that the situations and the acting which obviously made the stage version a success are multiplied many fold in the photoplay."

Miss Brady substantiates her views by pointing out that in her acting of the spoken drama, she had ample applause given by the public, wherein lay the strongest appeal.

ingdale was broken into Sunday night making their escape.

this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, and I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me,
and I recommend it as a splendid fe-

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly

How to Keep Baby Smiling and Well

See that the daily functions are regular and normal

YOU can't expect the little ones to be happy and playful when the head feels dull and the stomach bloated. The normal habit of children is to be happy and when you notice them cross and fretful you will usually find constipation is responsible. Perhaps they have missed that daily function so necessary to comfort and health. Look at the tongue and see if the breath is bad. Watch for belching. These are the tell-tale symptoms of constipation. Tonight give a little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can buy at any drug store for 50c and $1 a large bottle, and it will act in the morning and the troublesome symptoms promptly disappear.

not think of being without a bottle in the house for the emergency arises almost daily when it is needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Unlike the harsher physics it acts gently and without griping so that while grownups can use it freely it can also be given to a tiny baby with perfect safety. Thousands of American families would

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. WHY FURNITURE COSTS MORE

Below are some of the facts in regard to the production of Furniture, as quoted by one of the leading Furniture manufacturers in the United States:—

Comparison in the costs of the principal items of material, together with labor advances, show less percentage in increase in the selling price of our Finished Product than the increased costs of manufacturing.

ITEMS	Cost, 1915	Cost Present	Increase
Sap Gum 4-1 No. 1 Common	$ 22.00	$ 89.00	300 per cent
Red Gum plain 4-4 F&S	38.00	195.00	412 per cent
Red Gum Quartered, 8-4 F&S	48.00	225.00	369 per cent
Yellow Pine Crating	12.00	40.00	231 per cent
Tops and Fronts, 5 ply Mahogany	130.00	450.00	246 per cent
Drawer Bottoms, 3 ply Mahogany	65.00	200.00	207 per cent
Shellac 4 1-2 lb. cut	.90	4.80	433 per cent
Sub-Shellac	.70	2.25	221 per cent
Mirrors (30x36 plain for basis)	3.00	20.50	583 per cent
Labor over 450 per cent increase		Average Advance 350 per cent

During the period covered by above statement our selling price has advanced 188 per cent.

The above figures for material are taken from actual invoices and can easily be verified by current market quotations. It is impossible to make contracts and as prices of materials are still advancing, it is evident that prices of furniture have not yet reached the high level necessary to meet the cost of production. It is only due to the fact that we are manufacturing furniture from materials purchased some time ago at less than today's prices, that we can operate at profit.

The above figures are FACTS, and even today further advances on Furniture are being received in every mail. We have it straight from the manufacturers themselves, that there will be no decline in prices for the next few years.

However, we made unusual good buying twelve months ago in all lines of Furniture, and the prices which we are now offering could not be bought from the manufacturers, even if bought in carload lots.

Our advice to the people of this section is to buy furniture today while we have these bargains in stock, and save a twenty per cent discount, besides the unusual future advances which are certain to come, when our present stock has been sold and we have to replace it at a figure greater than the retail price.

The 20 per cent discount will be included on the following standard lines:

- Wurlitzer and Bush and Gert Pianos and Players
- Favorite and Chambers Ranges
- Eden Washing Machines
- Bedroom, Dining Room and Library Suites
- McDougal Kitchen Cabinets
- Leonard Refrigerators
- Simmons Beds
- Ostermoore Mattresses
- Rugs and Floor Coverings
- Blobe-Wernicke Book Cases

BIG CROWD BUT SLOW HORSE SALE

Court day opened Monday morning with the largest attendance of any stock sale in Richmond this year. The demand ran steadily to work horses from the start, although there was a slight demand for Shetland ponies. Mules sold at a good figure, especially those broke to general farm work. There were a number of horses and mules brought from Lexington for sale. Carter Adams, well known local dealer, was on hand and had a number of horses of various kinds for sale. One, a small sorrel filly, and one of the most attractive young horses to be seen on the streets, brought the surprisingly low price of $49.50. Mr. James Broadus was the purchaser. "This will be all at the price," said Mr. Carter, who saw the animal being led away. He stated that the great demand now was for work horses. Until noon the sales had been light and the prices low.

To Keep American Ships on the Seas

For the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. It cost us $3,000,000,000 to get it.

The farmer, manufacturer, laborer—every American is interested in holding our position on the seas.

As a first step in this direction it is necessary to modify those articles of existing commercial treaties which have operated to thwart the upbuilding of our merchant marine.

By giving the notice of termination for which the several treaties provide.

This action is directed in the constructive Shipping Bill now before Congress.

Which declares it to be the policy of the United States "to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage" a merchant marine.

This policy deserves the support of every American.

Lacking this support the present effort to maintain our merchant marine may suffer the fate of many ineffective attempts of the past.

Send for a copy of "For an American Merchant Marine."

OUTDOOR ELECTRIC LIGHTS FOR FARM

The first thing that one thinks of in connection with electricity on the farm is light in the house and barns, and yet farmers who have installed electricity find that one of the most useful lights on their places is an outside light.

In a great many instances farm buildings are so arranged that a single light can be used to illuminate all the ground between the house and the barns. Quite generally it is found that a windmill tower, the peak of the roof of one of the buildings or other ready-made support offers the best location for the light. An enameled reflector is used, which insures the even and strong distribution of all of the light from the lamp over the area where it is needed. Switches to control the light are placed both in the house and in the barn, that is, the light is wired so that it can be turned off or on from either the house or the barn. It is this feature which makes this particular light so valuable to the farmer. He drives into the barn yard at night with the lights of his car turned on, switches on the yard light when he gets out to open the garage doors, and thus is able to walk up the house over a path that he can see all the way. If the season demands that he get up before dawn or if there is sudden necessity for his going to the barn in the middle of the night he does not have to find and light a lantern. A touch of the button and the whole barn yard is flooded with light. Powerful lights are used for this kind of lighting, 75 to 100 watts, and yet the cost of burning them is less than a half cent an hour.

The low cost of such lighting, and its reliability, is due to the great development of farm electric plants during the last few years. Today the farmer can have electric service from a plant that is low in cost, reliable and remarkably simple in operation.

RED LICK SOLDIERS VISITING IN RICHMOND

Curtis Powell, of Locust Branch, and Flen Alcorn, of Panola were in the city today looking after the soldiers' insurance. They stated they had out a large crop of tobacco, and that the Red Lick district would make a good showing this year, there being more tobacco out than ever before. These two young men made excellent records overseas and while in the service are credited with a number of acts of unusual bravery. They also report an apparently large supply of money in their neighborhood, and that bee raising is becoming quite an industry. Mr. Powell stated that his health had not been the best since he quit the army. It is expected that both will become members of the American Legion when they return to Richmond next time. While here they met a number of young men with whom they fought overseas.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITTAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.

Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian medicine man who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days. I had not anticipated and hardly was expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious poultice. I requested for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalco, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, also children, have reported satisfactory results from Kotalco.

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

"My honest belief, is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they remain for a time like bulbs or seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Shampoo (which contains alkalis) and hair lotions which contain alcohol are enemies to the hair, as they dry it, making it brittle. Kotalco contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair."

PROVE FOR YOURSELF

Get a box of the genuine Kotalco at a reliable druggist's $2.00.00 GUARANTEED with each box. A small testing box of Kotalco (with testimonials, etc.) may be obtained by sending ten cents, silver or stamps, to my address below.

ARE THE FARMERS OF MADISON COUNTY PROGRESSIVE AND ANXIOUS FOR TIME AND MONEY SAVING MACHINERY?

We believe they are, and that the reason they have not bought more TRACTORS is because they have not investigated the great man power, and money saving qualities of this necessary farm utensil.

Those who have bought and used them would not be without them, (and the farmers of Bourbon county have bought and are now using more than ten times the number in Madison county). Stop and think, man power and time are more valuable now than ever in the history of the world. It behooves every man to produce more at a less cost during the world's greatest need. Are you willing to be a slacker? Investigate all makes of TRACTORS, and we believe you will settle on the most reasonable in first cost, and the most economical to operate, and one that will plow as much as three teams, do your breaking, conditioning, sowing, harvesting and threshing, the reliable FORDSON FARM TRACTOR. Let us talk the matter over with you.

Cut This Out and Take it With You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. INCREASES

CAPITAL STOCK

Farmer's Store Outgrows Original Capitalization

Because of the increase in the volume of its business and because of the demands upon its stock of goods, the Union Supply Company, Irvine street, has found it necessary to double its capitalization in order to meet the desires of its customers.

At a regularly called meeting of stockholders May 22, the capital stock was increased from five to ten thousand dollars, a step found necessary because of a demand by prospective shareholders who desire to share in the rebate feature of this unique institution. For seven years the shareholders have been paid six per cent interest on stock and an equal division of the balance of the profits, according to the volume of trade done with the store, regardless of the number of shares held. As a result of this feature many holders of one share only have been paid six per cent on stock and rebates amounting to $50.00 up to as much as $120.25.

Under the amended articles of incorporation, just filed in the county clerk's office, one half of these accumulated profits, after payment of six per cent interest on stock, is to be paid to shareholders in proportion to the amount of trade done by them regardless of number of shares held and the remaining half set aside as a reserve or sinking fund to be used only for the purpose of liquidating outstanding indebtedness and to meet current obligations incident to the running of the business until such time as all are fully paid, then this surplus profit shall be at the disposal of a majority of the shareholders present at any legal meeting.

So far stock issued by the company amounts to six thousand dollars and it is expected that the full ten thousand dollars will be gobbled up within a month or two. Just what extensions and additions will be made to this farmers' institution has not yet been decided upon, but expansion will naturally follow.

The holding of shares is limited to fifty and all shareholders have an equal voice at its meetings and elections regardless of number of shares held. It is truly a democratic institution where every man has an equal voice in the conduct of its affairs. The annual election of officers is held on the first Saturday in July. 137 stu

SWIFT'S REVIEW

The volume of cream delivered to the creameries the past week has shown a seasonable increase and price are generally unchanged.

The quality of hand-separator cream can be improved by observing the following suggestions:

1. Milking should be done in a barn that is clean, well lighted and ventilated and often sprayed.
2. Cows should be kept free from dirt, dust, manure and loose hair by frequently wiping their flanks and udders with a damp cloth.
3. Milk pails should have filter-tops.
4. Separator should be solidly placed in a clean, well-lighted and well ventilated room.
5. Before being used it should be thoroughly cleaned with hot water and then rinsed with cold.
6. Warm cream should not be poured in with cold cream. After separating, it should be cooled quickly, either in a refrigerator or in a can set in cold or running water, and the cream stirred with tinned metal or a wooden stirrer until properly cooled. It may then be poured in with other cooled cream, and should be thoroughly stirred before covering with cheesecloth tied down closely around the neck of the can.
7. Cream should then be set in refrigerator, cold water or some cool, dry place. Great care should be taken not to place the cream in a damp close, basement or a cellar where it will be exposed to the sun. Good ventilation is vitally necessary.

The quotations on live fowl in the larger markets are lower, which has resulted in slight declines in country values.

Stocks of storage poultry are light, and as there is a good demand for dressed poultry, it is expected that there will be but little change from present prices during the next few weeks.

As stocks of frozen broilers are lighter than a year ago, there will be a brisk demand for the new crop during the next few weeks. Receipts of eggs are about normal for this time of the year; quality is not as satisfactory as earlier in the season and prices in the large consuming centers are generally lower.

To secure best results, eggs should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place and marketed frequently. Quality will be improved if infertile eggs are produced.

Petitions have been filed at Mt. Sterling asking for $300,000 good roads bond issue.

Echoes of First Republican Convention Held in Chicago 60 Years Ago

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, June 7.—At the first Republican national convention held in Chicago 60 years ago:

An Iowa delegate walked 150 miles to get to a railroad to come to the convention.

Special railroad rates were made and Chicago's population probably doubled convention week.

Hotel rooms were $1.50 to $2.50 a day.

Crowds were so great that billiard tables in the hotels were pressed into service as beds.

The "Wigwag," in which the convention was held, was probably about the size of the annex to the Coliseum in which this year's convention takes place.

The Wigwag's profuse decoration was largely furnished by the Republican women of Chicago. They were invited to come "armed and equipped with those formidable weapons, needles, thimbles, scissors etc. etc."

When the special train pulled in with the Massachusetts and other New England delegates, rockets were sent up and a cannon boomed to announce their coming to waiting friends.

The gallery in the convention hall was reserved for women and their escorts. Because of the great number of men unable to get in, one man was reported trying to get into the gallery with Indian squaw selling moccasins as his credentials, but he was excluded on the ground that she was no lady.

The two chief dominating speeches were made in less than 30 words. Abraham Lincoln was placed in nomination in 23 words.

The making of the presidential nomination was announced to the city by the firing of a cannon on the roof of the convention hall.

That night cannon and rockets were fired, bonfires lighted and multitudinous parades formed, their participants carrying anything that would serve—even to rakes and fishing poles.

The foregoing data was obtained from the library of the Chicago Historical Society, which has various relics of the convention and the campaign that followed.

The Belated Spring Work

There is said to be an unprecedented demand for paints, oils, and varnishes in Richmond, not only among the people of the city but those of the county, where things are being brightened up. Local dealers state that many of the supplies in this line are about exhausted. Wall paper is coming in for its share of attention, since warmer weather has prevailed, and paper hangers are at a premium.

Cherries To Be Plentiful

Cherries will be plentiful, according to the owners of orchards in this section of the state, although early reports were to the effect that there had been considerable damage wrought by cold weather. Prof. G. D. Smith, of Eastern Normal, claims there are good prospects on his farm near Conway, as well as others, and there are no grounds for the fear that there will be a very light crop.

Foxes Are Running

These are good nights for the fox to run, say rural residents, and there are many chases being taken up, according to reports. Some of the dogs seem to understand this fact, and are apparently more eager to go than their owners, in some instances, especially where they have been rushing the work of putting out tobacco.

COAL TAKES

ANOTHER JUMP

(Special Dispatch)

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—Coal dealers here today announced advances in the price of coal of from 25 cents to $1 and declare that no prospect of any halt in the upward swing is in sight.

Isn't this enough to make one think how wise it would be to lay in next winter's supply today. We can furnish you with our famous coals either in block or run of mine.
